

AMERICAN MOTORIZED INFANTRY IS SURGING NORTH TO THREATEN MAJOR PART OF GERMAN 7TH ARMY IN FRANCE

Other Yank Spearheads Closing In on Paris—Germans Admit Situation is Serious—Claim That Allied Armies Attempt to Shatter Whole German Front in Normandy During the Night.

By International News Service
American armored and motorized infantry columns surged northward
today from the vicinity of Le Mans, to threaten the major portion of the German Seventh Army in western France. At the same time other Yank spearheads were reported closing in on Paris.

The Germans admitted the seriousness of the situation with which their forces were confronted and said Allied armies during the night intensified their efforts to shatter the whole German front in Normandy.

A Reuter's dispatch from France said Canadian and British troops during the night continued their progress into the wooded salient
between the Orne and Laize rivers, scoring a considerable penetration
before encountering German opposition.

Supreme headquarters, after having reported earlier that the Americans who passed through Le Mans could be assumed well on the road to Paris and moving forward in the area of Chartres, 43 miles from the French capital, remained reticent concerning further advances.

Troops of Lieut. Gen. Omar N.
Bradley, occupying the Loire River port of Nantes, crossed the river and advanced to a point 10 miles south of Nantes against faint opposition.

Fighting to smash the Germans back from the American-held corridor linking Normandy with Brittany, Yank forces pushed ahead an additional two and one-half miles from Gathemo to reach Vengeons.
The Germans continued to offer heavy opposition between Mortain and Vire despite their threatened entanglement.

President Roosevelt will speak to the nation at 8 p. m. C. W. T. tonight on his 10,000-mile trip to Pearl Harbor and the Aleutians. Arrangements were made for the President to make his report to the American people from the Bremerton Navy Yard. However, there was a possibility of his being in Seattle.

Boardwalk Buildings Are Destroyed at Wildwood

by a stiff ocean breeze, a general alarm fire raged through over two blocks of Wildwood's boardwalk buildings early this morning.
A number of large apartment buildings nearby were threatened.
The fire started in the Mary Bradford restaurant, it is said, this being located on the boardwalk.
Spreading rapidly the fire engulfed a number of other buildings, including a theatre and a jewelry company.
Firemen from Wildwood and Wildwood Crest were called. The first alarm was sent in just after one o'clock. A block of buildings was leveled within an hour.

Five-Year-Old Colored Boy Meets Death In Fire

QUAKERTOWN, Aug. 12—A five-year-old colored boy, Percy Jo Smith, died in a fire at the Olin Mastin farm shortly before Thursday midnight. He was the son of Mrs. Lucresia Smith.

The child had been placed in bed,
and in the front room of the structure was James Thomas, 42, who stated he fell asleep, but awakened at about 11:30, smelling smoke.

Thomas states he ran outside for water, forgetting the boy was asleep in a room of one of the cabins built by Mastin following the fire last year in which several colored people lost their lives. When he returned the cabin was a mass of flames. The boy's body was found later by Fire Chief Granville Cressman.

It is believed the fire started from a coal oil lamp.

The cottage which was destroyed was located about 100 feet from the site of the barn which was destroyed last year, and which was used as a residence for the workers.

Negroes and others nearby formed a bucket brigade to save the two adjoining cottages. Firemen from Quakertown and Richlandtown responded to the alarm. Members of the Bureau of Fire Investigation, Penna. State Police, are conducting an investigation.

The lad's mother was in Quaker-town at the time, and his father and a younger brother are said to be in Florida.

In the fire of last year, two persons, transient tomato pickers, lost their lives, and four others were severely injured. Following that fire, Mastin, the owner, was charged with involuntary manslaughter.
The case was heard in the county court, and Mastin was required to pay costs of the prosecution and a fine of $250.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

It's A CIO Fight, Too

Washington, Aug. 10.
IT IS interesting to note that in the heated struggle over the method of recon-
version and unemployment some of the foremost
fourth termers,
without any
foundation at all,
are beginning to allege that the Republicans, who are fairly well
lined up against the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill and in favor of the George bill, do not want any bill at all.

THIS is the same false insinuation
they employed in the soldier's vote fight. It is the usual Administration line of attributing a low and sinister motive to anyone who dissents from the particular project to which it is committed. In this case the bill the Republicans are supporting was introduced by the distinguished Democratic chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, whose motive and character are above suspicion, and it is more or less along the lines advocated by Mr. B. M. Baruch, whose known political and personal disinterestedness in these matters is generally recognized and whose advice if taken by this Administration as often as it has been asked would have saved priceless time, money and material in the conduct of the war on the home front.

NEVERTHELESS, the fourth-term spokesmen are trying to make it appear, as they did in the soldier's vote business, that the opposition wants no compensation at all for unemployed workers during the reconversion period. This is an absurd allegation but typical. The issue between the two bills, of course, is whether under the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill the Federal Government shall administer the law and provide the funds or whether the States shall do so. On this issue the Democrats are split, with the independent ones for the George bill and the New Deal forces

SCOUT CAMP CLOSED WEDNESDAY FOR SEASON

Fall and Winter Activities

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Camp Ockanickon, the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America camp, closed its summer season on Wednesday of this week with the staff, under the direction of camp director Melvin Mack, of Cornwells, completing the work of conditioning the camp for the fall and winter activities. The last week of camp was one of the most successful of the season, with a board Delaware Valley District, Rev. A.
W. Eastburn, chairman. At the evening ceremony, Harry Hoffman, of Lower Makefield and Dr. M. M.
Hostetter, of Doylestown, were the speakers. Camp Ockanickon had one of the most successful years of its history during the past summer.
The program at camp continues, with a Cubber's pow-wow at camp
over the week-end, with the cub planning committee, Chairman Fred H. Schmidt, of Perkassie, in charge. Troop camping during the next few weeks will be in order with districts taking turns using the camp. The annual meeting of the Order of the Arrow will be held on one week-end and a training course for all council scouters is also scheduled for early Sep-

Hibbs, and for the peanut scramble to "Freddie" Gould, Thomas Profy, 3rd, and Elisa Pley.
Refreshments were enjoyed, with

Foster, Mrs. Watson Simons and Miss Bernice Britton; from Bristol,
"Billy" Farr, Elaine Hibbs, Mrs.
W. W. Farr, Mrs. Thomas Profy,
Jr., and Mrs. John Hibbs.

Bettie Patricia DNB said many gifts.

In accepting the post of campaign chairman, Hunneman promised a "lively, hard-hitting campaign" and invited volunteers to come to headquarters and enlist.

Hunneman said: "Unfortunately,
Philadelphia has failed for three consecutive years to make its quota—the only major city to fall short. Because of this, our campaign for workers must start now!"

Stressing the importance of the war job of the American Red Cross, Hunneman said, "It costs twenty dollars per year for the Red Cross to maintain its service to each man and woman in the armed forces."

This service is represented graphically by an unusual display in the headquarters lobby. Maps and photographs, displays of blood plasma and prisoner of war packages show how and where Red Cross money is spent. Another huge display shows the area to be covered in the local Red Cross campaign next March and provides space for the names of the 69,000 workers to be enrolled.

Normandy Battlefront Ablaze With Fighting

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force—The entire Normandy battlefront was ablaze with furious fighting today, with the Allied armies waging a campaign of annihilation against the doggedly resisting German Seventh Army which appeared threatened with possible entrapment.

A headquarters spokesman said there was no comment on "wild reports" of American progress east of Le Mans, including the rumor that the Yanks were near the outskirts of Paris, but added that the U. S. armored and infantry units undoubtedly are continuing advance from Le Mans. "But we are not tipping the enemy where," he said.

The Nazi agency DNB said American tanks were attacking Alencon, midway between Le Mans and the front below Caen. The Americans attacked Alencon under a tremendous air canopy. DNB said. Tanks were reported advancing northward on either side of the road from Le Mans to Alencon against stiffening German resistance. It is clear Eisenhower is trying to operate a vast Pincer movement, DNB added.

Hoboken, N. J., With New York's worst harbor fire still raging fiercely 14 hours after its outbreak reducing Pier 4 Hoboken, to a mass at the war effort, the flames consuming thousands of tons of vital war supplies on the pier which were consigned to the nation's far-flung fighting fronts.

INSTRUMENT OF DEATH

For indiscriminate destruction, Germany's robot flying bomb is easily the most terrifying weapon which any nation has devised—and pilotless bombs five times larger than those now in use are threatened. But the United States has some secret weapons of its own. They are not designed for use against civilians but against enemy personnel and military installations.

Most Americans were pleasantly surprised by the rapidity of the campaign on Tinian island in the Marianas. Now it is revealed that American success there is not due to weak Japanese defense but the use of a new instrument of death, one which kills every living thing within a 100-foot radius. Tested on Tinian, it will be employed in other battle areas before long.

What worries the Japs most poignantly is the knowledge that if America were to adopt Axis ruthlessness, it could be used with devastating effect against their crowded population centers.

SPEAKING OF GADGETS

Right off the bat some bright persons had the answer—the correct one, too—to “How old is Ann?” when that query had the nation groggy. And without putting pencil to paper they rightly proclaimed it was 28 eggs that six hens laid in seven days if a hen and a half laid an egg and a half in a day and a half.

So what was there to be excited about in the report that Harvard had a new calculating machine, the invention of Commander Howard H. Aiken, USNR, former associate professor of applied mathematics at the Harvard Engineering School?

Just as under-desk use of “ponies” is ignoble in passing examinations in foreign languages, so the covert use of one of these little gadgets by an engineering student to make the grade would scarcely be a booster of morale. So—but hold everything! The tricky student would have a little difficulty in smuggling one of these devices into the examination room. The contraption is 51 feet long, is eight feet high and weighs 35 tons. And it seems there is only one of ‘em. It took eight years to construct, cost $250,000 and here are some of the things it does:

It will take a row of 23 figures and multiply it by a row of 23 other figures in 5.8 seconds; it adds or subtracts up to 23 figures in 3/10th of a second, and divides in 14.7 seconds. To calculate logarithms 59 seconds are required, and trigonometric functions take 88 seconds.

The very thought is dizzying. In the field of higher mathematics there are problems that would take years to solve that this machine can calculate in a few hours. It can make calculations that thus far have been beyond the power of mere man. Already it has found 11 mistakes in one mathematical formula that had been regarded as “standard” after having taken years to work out. What boon it will confer in many fields of science, in particular astronomy, is for the years to reveal.

TO FIND in this that either the Republicans or the independent Democrats are inspired by anti-fourth-term politics is too far-fetched to stand up. It would be as stupid as it would be awkward and inevitably would react upon those responsible. The truth is that the demagoguery and the politics in this controversy are on the Truman-Murray-Kilgore side and not on the other. For one thing, the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill provides so much more lavish compensation than in many cases it would pay a worker to remain unemployed rather than take a private job. For another—and this the Truman-Murray-Kilgore advocates refrain from mentioning—the labor leaders, and particularly the CIO and its PAC committee, are back of their bill and against the George bill. The prospect that the CIO and Mr. Hillman may become leading issues in this campaign to

—o—
ACCORDINGLY, in this fight they are not shouting their heads off as usual. But, they are in it up to the neck just the same and every postcard person knows it. It is hardly necessary to add that Mr. Roosevelt is with them and that the White House weight is surely behind the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill, which has become known as the “liberal” bill. It is a typical Roosevelt performance, the politics in which is brazen and undisguised, and it piles up evidence as to where the real power will be in the next Administration should he be re-elected.

—o—
IT IS charged that the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill is “the genesis of a system of permanent pensions for many thousands of war workers.” It sets up another great bureau which is known as a National Production Employment Board, which will certainly increase the number of Federal jobholders and add to the expenses of government. It provides as unemployment compensation more money from the Federal Treasury than many workers were earning in their private jobs, thus creating a disposition never again to take a job.

—o—
THE LINE between Federal control and State control is sharply drawn by the bills and Senator Austin, of Vermont, declares the Administration bill would bring back the old NRA in full force for the post-war period. The New York Times editorially says that “this kind of competitive political generosity with the taxpayers' money would end in wrecking the unemployment insurance system itself.” To sum up, there is no doubt demagoguery and undeniable politics in the one bill, there is neither politics nor demagoguery in the other.

J. R. Jenkins is razing the building. In doing so he has found two thicknesses of weatherboards over a brick construction. The cellar walls of stone are still intact after many, many years. They are apparently constructed without use of mortar states Mr. Jenkins.

The joints are of the mortise and pinion style, and the old-fashioned cut nails were used in the construction. The floor boards are from 12 to 16 inches in width, and 20 feet long. The place is said to have been in possession of the Sharp family for 150 years.

Contents of the house, too, are quite old. There is a framed portrait with the inscription, "Bishop Richard Allen, ordained bishop 1816, founder of African Methodism, born February 14, 1760; died March 26, 1831." Then there is a lot of old chinaware, pieces of furniture of an early date, an old-fashioned trunk said to be covered with deer skin, and the like.

The addition of the Sharp property to the playground will square the latter and add much to its value as well as to the attractiveness of the vicinity.

AMERICAN MOTORIZED INFANTRY IS SURGING NORTH TO THREATEN MAJOR PART OF GERMAN 7TH ARMY IN FRANCE

Other Yank Spearheads Closing In on Paris—Germans Admit Situation is Serious—Claim That Allied Armies Attempt to Shatter Whole German Front in Normandy During the Night.

By International News Service

American armored and motorized infantry columns surged northward today from the vicinity of Le Mans, to threaten the major portion of the German Seventh Army in western France. At the same time other Yank spearheads were reported closing in on Paris.

The Germans admitted the seriousness of the situation with which their forces were confronted and said Allied armies during the night intensified their efforts to shatter the whole German front in Normandy.

A Reuter's dispatch from France said Canadian and British troops during the night continued their progress into the wooded salient between the Orne and Laize rivers, scoring a considerable penetration before encountering German opposition.

Supreme headquarters, after having reported earlier that the Americans who passed through Le Mans could be assumed well on the road to Paris and moving forward in the area of Chartres, 43 miles from the French capital, remained reticent concerning further advances.

Troops of Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, occupying the Loire River port of Nantes, crossed the river and advanced to a point 10 miles south of Nantes against faint opposition.

Fighting to smash the Germans back from the American-held corridor linking Normandy with Brittany, Yank forces pushed ahead an additional two and one-half miles from Gathemo to reach Vengeons. The Germans continued to offer heavy opposition between Mortain and Vire despite their threatened entrapment.

President Roosevelt will speak to the nation at 8 p. m., C. W. T. tonight on his 10,000-mile trip to Pearl Harbor and the Aleutians. Arrangements were made for the President to make his report to the American people from the Bremerton Navy Yard. However, there was a possibility of rain.

Boardwalk Buildings Are Destroyed at Wildwood

WILDWOOD, N. J., Aug. 12—Fanned by a stiff ocean breeze, a general alarm fire raged through over two blocks of Wildwood's boardwalk buildings early this morning. A number of large apartment buildings nearby were threatened. The fire started in the Mary Bradford restaurant, it is said, this being located on the boardwalk. Spreading rapidly the fire engulfed a number of other buildings, including a theatre and a jewelry company.

Firemen from Wildwood and Wildwood Crest were called. The first alarm was sent in just after one o'clock. A block of buildings was levelled within an hour.

Five-Year-Old Colored Boy Meets Death In Fire

QUAKERTOWN, Aug. 12—A five-year-old colored boy, Percy Jo Smith, died in a fire at the Olin Mastin farm shortly before Thursday midnight. He was the son of Mrs. Lucretia Smith.

The child had been placed in bed, and in the front room of the structure was James Thomas, 42, who stated he fell asleep, but awakened at about 11:30, smelling smoke.

Thomas states he ran outside for water, forgetting the boy was asleep in a room of one of the cabins built by Mastin following the fire last year in which several colored people lost their lives. When he returned the cabin was a mass of flames. The boy's body was found later by Fire Chief Granville Cressman.

It is believed the fire started from a coal oil lamp.

The cottage which was destroyed was located about 100 feet from the site of the barn which was destroyed last year, and which was used as a residence for the workers.

Negroes and others nearby formed a bucket brigade to save the two adjoining cottages. Firemen from Quakertown and Richlandtown responded to the alarm. Members of the Bureau of Fire Investigation, Penna. State Police, are conducting an investigation.

The lad's mother was in Quakertown at the time, and his father and a younger brother are said to be in Florida.

In the fire of last year, two persons, transient tomato pickers, lost their lives, and four others were severely injured. Following that fire, Mastin, the owner, was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The case was heard in the county court, and Mastin was required to pay costs of the prosecution and a fine of $250.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Normandy Battlefront Ablaze With Fighting

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force—The entire Normandy battlefront was ablaze with furious fighting today, with the Allied armies waging a campaign of annihilation against the doggedly resisting German Seventh Army which appeared threatened with possible entrapment.

A headquarters spokesman said there was no comment on "wild reports" of American progress east of Le Mans, including the rumor that the Yanks were near the outskirts of Paris, but added that the U. S. armored and infantry units undoubtedly are continuing advance from Le Mans. "But we are not tipping the enemy where," he said.

The Nazi agency DNB said American tanks were attacking Alencon, midway between Le Mans and the front before DNB. The Americans attacked Alencon under a tremendous air canopy. Cdn. said. Tanks were reported advancing northward on either side of the road from Le Mans to Alencon against stiffening German resistance. It is clear Eisenhower is trying to operate a vast pincer movement, DNB added.

Harbor Fire Still Rages at Hoboken

Hoboken, N. J.—With New York's worst harbor fire still raging fiercely 14 hours after its outbreak reducing Pier 4 Hoboken, to a mass of smoldering wreckage and taking two lives, authorities today estimated that the damage might reach $4,000,000. The disaster struck a hard blow at the war effort, the flames consuming thousands of tons of vital war supplies on the pier which were consigned to the nation's far-flung fighting fronts.

Nazi Garrisoning Forces Withdraw Near Florence

Rome—The bulk of Nazi forces garrisoning the besieged Italian city of Florence have withdrawn north of the Mugnone canal at the northern outskirts of the metropolis, official Allied spokesmen announced today. WILL NEED 60,000 VOLUNTEERS FOR DRIVE

Plans Being Made For 1945 Red Cross War Fund Campaign

NAME THE CHAIRMAN

At least 60,000 volunteers will be needed for the 1945 Red Cross War Fund campaign, it was announced today by William C. Hunneman, Jr., chairman. Volunteers can begin signing up immediately, he said.

Hunneman made this announcement as he accepted the chairmanship of the 1945 campaign from Dr. George P. Rea, chairman of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the Red Cross at a ceremony opening campaign headquarters in the Rosenbach Galleries, 1320 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

In accepting the post of campaign chairman, Hunneman promised a "lively, hard-hitting campaign," and invited volunteers to come to headquarters and enlist.

Hunneman said: "Unfortunately, Philadelphia has failed for three consecutive years to make its quota—the only major city to fail short. Because of this, our campaign for workers must start now!" Stressing the importance of the war job of the American Red Cross, Hunneman said, "It costs twenty dollars per year for the Red Cross to maintain its service to each man and woman in the armed forces."

This service is represented graphically by an unusual display in the headquarters lobby. Maps and photographs, displays of blood plasma and prisoner of war packages show how and where Red Cross money is spent. Another huge display shows the area to be covered in the local Red Cross campaign next March and provides space for the names of the 60,000 workers to be enrolled.

16th Quakertown Man Makes Supreme Sacrifice

QUAKERTOWN, Aug. 12—PFC Rosario Sorbello, 27, of the U. S. Infantry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sorbello, Broad street, is believed to be the 16th young man from this community to make the supreme sacrifice.

His parents were officially notified that he was killed on July 30 at New Guinea.

Prior to his entry into service in October, 1941, PFC Sorbello was employed by the Regent Coat Company. Another brother, PFC Frank Sorbello is at present in New Caledonia. A brother-in-law, PFC Myles Nane, was recently awarded the Purple Heart, for injuries received during the invasion of France.

DEF FOR SGT. YODIS

S/Sgt. Thomas Yodis, husband of Margaret Scholt Yodis, R. D. 2, Quakertown, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievements in the air. Sgt. Yodis is also the holder of the Air Medal with seven oak leaf clusters. He is an engine-gunner on a B-26 Marauder bomber, and has been overseas a year.

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

A quintet of Seamen, second class, from Bristol were among the members of the assault forces which invaded France on "D" Day, June 6th, and participated in the battle of Cherbourg.

The five are: Edward T. Roe, Joseph V. Missera, George W. Kimble, Charles J. Jenigan, and Magnus S. Kohler.

This was the first encounter of this group with the enemy, and the localities state that there were no casualties aboard their ship.

Meeting for Nearly All Bucks County Held In Municipal Bldg. Here

Proprietors of eating and drinking places in Bucks County, south of Doylestown, which according to OPA spokesmen included all of Bucks County with the exception of Quakertown, met in the Municipal Building here last night to listen to an exposition of regulations governing prices of those things which they sell.

Frederick H. Bickert, field operations officer; Fred Vollmer, chairman of district restaurant advisory council; and James Osborne, OPA food specialist, were the speakers.

The regulations call for the listing on an OPA poster the ceiling prices of 40 meals, food items, and beverages which the Price Executive of the area in which the restaurant is located, selects for posting.

The poster must be displayed on or before August 16th.

The items and the lawful ceiling prices are to be hand-lettered in ink or printed on the poster in a size which can be easily read by customers.

If the establishment does not offer all the 40 items, list first all those offered, then add as many other items as are usually offered to bring the total number to 40, with your lawful ceiling prices for each item.

If as many as 40-items are not offered, place on the poster all the items which are offered and ceiling price for each.

List the a la carte items first. In listing meals, list the entire and then indicate the type of meal, for example, steak dinner, leg of lamb dinner, fillet of sole lunch, vegetable plate lunch.

When the list of food items, meals, and beverages to be posted and the ceiling prices, is completed, there must be made out three copies of the list and send or deliver one to the Local Ration Board on or before August 21st. Each copy must be clear and legible, dated and signed by the owner or manager of the establishment, with the name and address of the establishment following the signature. The Board will check the prices with the ceiling prices on file with it. If the prices agree, the Board will make a notation to that effect on one copy and return

For indiscriminate destruction, Germany's robot flying bomb is easily the most terrifying weapon which any nation has devised—and pilotless bombs five times larger than those now in use are threatened. But the United States has some secret weapons of its own. They are not designed for use against civilians but against enemy personnel and military installations.

Most Americans were pleasantly surprised by the rapidity of the campaign on Titan island in the Marianas. Now it is revealed that American success there is not due to weak Japanese defense but the use of a new instrument of death, one which kills every living thing within a 100-foot radius. Tested on Tinian, it will be employed in other battle areas before long.

What worries the Japs most poignantly is the knowledge that if America were to adopt Axis ruthlessness, it could be used with devastating effect against their crowded population centers.

Right off the bat some bright persons had the answer—the correct one, too—to "How old is Ann?" when that query had the nation groggy. And without putting pencil to paper they rightly proclaimed it was 28 eggs that six hens laid in seven days if a hen and a half laid an egg and a half in a day and a half.

So what was there to be excited about in the report that Harvard had a new calculating machine, the invention of Commander Howard H. Aiken, USNR, former associate professor of applied mathematics at the Harvard Engineering School?

Just as under-desk use of "ponies" is ignoble in passing examinations in foreign languages, so the covert use of one of these little gadgets by an engineering student to make the grade would scarcely be a booster of morale. So—but hold everything! The tricky student would have a little difficulty in smuggling one of these devices into the examination room. The contraption is 51 feet long, is eight feet high and weighs 35 tons. And it seems there is only one of 'em. It took eight years to construct, cost $250,000 and here are some of the things it does:

It will take a row of 23 figures and multiply it by a row of 23 other figures in 5.8 seconds; it adds or subtracts up to 23 figures in 3/10th of a second, and divides in 14.7 seconds. To calculate logarithms 59 seconds are required, and trigonometric functions take 88 seconds.

The very thought is dizzying. In the field of higher mathematics there are problems that would take years to solve that this machine can calculate in a few hours. It can make calculations that thus far have been beyond the power of mere man. Already it has found 11 mistakes in one mathematical formula that had been regarded as "standard" after having taken years to work out. What boons it will confer in many fields of science, in particular astronomy, is for the years to reveal.

The Public is Cordially Invited

TO FIND in this that either the Republicans or the Independent Democrats are inspired by anti-fourth-term politics is too far-fetched to stand up. It would be as stupid as it would be awkward and inevitably would react upon those responsible. The truth is that the demagoguery and the politics in this controversy are on the Truman-Murray-Kilgore side and not on the other. For one thing, the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill provides so much more lavish compensation than take a private job. For another—and this the Truman-Murray-Kilgore advocates refrain from mentioning—the labor leaders, and particularly the CIO and its PAC committee, are back of their bill and against the George bill. The prospect that the CIO and Mr. Hillman may become leading issues in this campaign to

—o—
ACCORDINGLY, in this fight they are not shouting their heads off as usual. But, they are in it up to the neck just the same and every postcard person knows it. It is hardly necessary to add that Mr. Roosevelt is with them and that the White House weight is surely behind the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill, which has become known as the "liberal" bill. It is a typical Roosevelt performance, the politics in which is brazen and undisguised, and it piles up evidence as to where the real power will be in the next Administration should he be re-elected.

—o—
IT IS charged that the Truman-Murray-Kilgore bill is "the genesis of a system of permanent pensions for many thousands of war workers." It sets up another great bureau which is known as a National Production Employment Board, which will certainly increase the number of Federal jobholders and add to the expenses of government. It provides an unemployment compensation more money from the Federal Treasury than many workers were earning in their private jobs, thus creating a disposition never again to take a job.

—o—
THE LINE between Federal control and State control is sharply drawn by the bills and Senator Austin, of Vermont, declares the Administration bill would bring back the old NRA in full force for the post-war period. The New York Times editorially says that "this kind of competitive political generosity with the taxpayers' money would end in wrecking the unemployment insurance system itself." To sum up, there is no doubt demagoguery and undeniable politics in the one bill, there is neither politics nor demagoguery in the other.

Almighty God, receive us everyone in the name of thy Son Jesus Christ, we humbly beseech thee. There is room in thine heart for every one; thou knowest all of thy children. Teach us the minuteness of thy care that we may give to thee the keeping of our whole life, reserving nothing for our own regard, but delivering the whole space of life, great and small, to the rule and blessing of Heaven. We commit ourselves to Thee this day and every day in Jesus' Name. Amen.

BOWLING SEASON TO OPEN HERE ON AUGUST 17TH

All 12 Alleys Have Been Reconditioned For The
New Season

NEW ASST MANAGER

John Leary, Phila., Will
Coach Bowling Here,
Says F. J. O'Boyle

The bowling alleys at the Bristol Bowling Center, Farragut avenue, will open for the fall and winter season on Thursday, August 17th, according to an announcement by manager F. J. O'Boyle. The entire 12 alleys have been resurfaced and reconditioned according to ABC specifications and regulations.

John Leary, formerly assistant manager of the Frankford Alleys, and well-known in Philadelphia bowling circles for his ability as a women's bowling coach, has accepted the position as assistant manager at the Bristol alleys. He will coach bowling here, with particular attention and instruction being given to women bowlers.

Open bowling will begin on the 17th, and continue every evening, except Sundays, until Labor Day. Leagues are now forming for the coming season and it is expected that the schedules will be completed by Labor Day.

urchased the property from Alphonso Sharp. It adjoins the school property on Pine street.

J. R. Jenkins is razing the building. In doing so he has found two thicknesses of weatherboards over a brick construction. The cellar walls of stone are still intact after many, many years. They are apparently constructed without use of mortar states Mr. Jenkins.

The joints are of the mortise and pinion style, and the old-fashioned cut nails were used in the construction. The floor boards are from 12 to 16 inches in width, and 20 feet long. The place is said to have been in possession of the Sharp family for 150 years.

Contents of the house, too, are quite old. There is a framed portrait with the inscription, "Bishop Richard Allen, ordained bishop 1816, founder of African Methodism, born February 14, 1760; died March 26, 1831." Then there is a lot of old chinaware, pieces of furniture of an early date, an old-fashioned trunk said to be covered with deer skin, and the like.

The addition of the Sharp property to the playground will square the latter and add much to its value as well as to the attractiveness of the vicinity.

If prices for the base period have not been filed, they must be before August 10 or no item which has not been filed with price may be sold until approved by OPA.

The forty items which were chosen by the Price Executive of the Philadelphia area after a meeting with the District Restaurant Council are:

On the eastern front, Russia's third Baltic army smashed deeper into Estonia today in an offensive to annihilate the thousands of Nazis trapped in the Baltic states while assault columns to the south steadily increased the threat to Warsaw.
